Inauguration
Kartarpur Corridor

Kartarpur is a town located in the initial Shaoa district in Punjab, Pakistan. Located on the right bank of the river, founded by the first Guru Nanak Dev, it is the birthplace of the Sikh faith. The Gurdwara Darbar Sahib, which is located in Kartarpur, was built by Guru Nanak Dev and remained as his residence for nearly 18 years until his death in 1539.

The Gurdwara is also notable for its location near the border between Pakistan and India. The shrine is visible from the Indian side of the border. The corridor - which is in Punjab, a region divided during the partition of British India in 1947 - has opened just days before the 550th anniversary of the birth of Sikhism's founder, Guru Nanak Dev, on 9 November. The Kartarpur corridor leads from the border straight to the Gurdwara Darbar Sahib Kartarpur, a 2.5-mile stretch. Indeed, religious tourism has great potential to promote people-to-people contacts in the subcontinent. Pakistan is home to other significant Sikh shrines - in Hassan Abdal, Lakhra etc. Similarly, there are ancient Hindu temples in Sindh's Thar region, the Hindu mandir in Balochistan, as well as Kahan Peer in Punjab, which can attract visitors from India and elsewhere.

Prime Minister of Pakistan, Imran Khan inaugurated Kartarpur Corridor and world’s biggest Guru Nanak Darbar Sahib, Kartarpur on 9th Nov, 2019.

Prime Minister of Pakistan, Imran Khan formally inaugurated the Kartarpur Corridor at a colourful ceremony on 09th November 2019, paving the way for Indian Sikh pilgrims to visit one of their religion’s holiest sites in Pakistan without needing a visa.

"First of all, I congratulate the Sikh community on the 550th birth anniversary of Baba Guru Nanak and welcome you all," the premier said at the start of his address, paying tribute to the government team for completing the Kartarpur project in a matter of months. He said the reality of Sikhs in the past to visit the Kartarpur shrine was only possible after a distance but not able to get near it. "That’s why I am happy to see you so happy and we pray you have nothing but prayers for us."

Remaining three galleries, 07, 08, 09 are actually three rooms those were under Iqbal’s use during his last days. Gallery 07 is bed room. 08 is drawing room and 09 is dining room, all these rooms have the same arrangements of fixtures and furniture as those were during the Iqbal’s lifetime.

Javed Manzil was built on about 07 Kanals of land, spending Rs. 40,000/- under the supervision of Allama Iqbal’s elder brother Sheikh Atta Muhammad. Javed Manzil, Allama Iqbal Museum is located on the main Allama Iqbal Road, which leads from railway station to the main Garhi Shahu Chowk.
